The Spirit OF OKLAHOMA

Presented by
PHIL LAKIN

Phil Lakin, Jr. has led Tulsa Community Foundation (TCF) since July 1999. He is the only individual to serve as the chief executive of the foundation. Phil works to set the strategic vision for TCF and supervises both long-term and daily goals and activities. Phil is passionate about his work with donors, community leaders and elected officials to improve the Tulsa area. Phil serves the City of Tulsa as the Tulsa City Councilor for District 8, comprising much of South Tulsa. Phil is past president of the Rotary Club of Tulsa, the 10th largest Rotary club in the world, and a graduate of Leadership Tulsa (Class 27).

Phil is a native Tulsan and graduate of Jenks High School. He earned his bachelor's degree in economics and finance, as well as his Master of Business Administration, from Baylor University. Before joining TCF, Phil worked for Baylor University's Office of Development, managing development efforts for northeastern Texas and six additional states. He and his wife Adriane have three sons. Phil has hiked or climbed to the summits of all of Colorado's 54 14,000-foot mountains.

The Tulsa Community Foundation is the largest community foundation in the United States. Headquartered in Tulsa, Oklahoma, as of January 2011 it was reported to have approximately four billion dollars in assets, and to have donated more than $580 million to local charities and government projects.

Tulsa Community Foundation is a tax-exempt, public charity organized in 1998. It was founded by Tulsa oilman, banker, and philanthropist George Kaiser, who felt that Tulsa's historical dependence on unorganized private giving from its wealthy families was no longer effective. Beginning with gifts from seventeen local philanthropists, by 2006 Tulsa Community Foundation had grown to become the largest community foundation in the country, surpassing the New York Community Trust. Kaiser's family foundation remains the largest contributor to the community foundation, which also manages about 600 donor advised funds.

I don't think you can describe the Spirit of Oklahoma without addressing the significance that our trust in God and adherence to His Word has played in the development of this great state and the people who have worked and sacrificed to make us what we are today. We have survived and grown through the Great Depression, Dust Bowl, multiple droughts, horrendous storms, tragedies, and many economic troubles. We don't have the great majestic scenery of the Rocky Mountains, the white tropical beaches of other locales, or an average daily temperature of 72 degrees, but we consistently find ourselves at the top of list as some of the best, safest, and most economically sound places to live in the United States. As a whole, I believe our reliance on God has brought us through many and great difficulties. We are called the "Buckle" of the Bible Belt for good reason.

Our Redento Raffinato vases tell the same kind of story. "Redento" is an Italian word that means "Redeemed". "Raffinato" means "Elegance". Redento Raffinato means Redeemed Elegance. These vases are made from broken or discarded pieces. We then take those broken pieces and "redeem" them from the destiny, that they were headed. They were headed for the trash and ultimately the city dump. In much the same manner, Christ has "redeemed" the broken pieces of our lives and made something elegant out of us, if we let him. Likewise, God has helped Oklahoma overcome many obstacles we have faced. He has helped us pick up the broken pieces of our tragedies, mistakes, and occasional wrong-doings. As Oklahomans have relied on him, it has benefited our state as a whole.

The color "Blue" in this Redento Raffinato, symbolizes the Spirit Of Oklahoma in that, blue symbolizes optimism, depth, and stability. Blue, symbolizes the color and depth of the ocean. It also is the color of e sky. The "Sky" is our limit!

When you look at the Redento Raffinato, you can't help but see the many layers of depth and complexity in each piece. Likewise, the things that have made Oklahoma a great state are the many layers and depth of character and talents that Oklahomans have made a part of their lives and in their business dealings. When you stand back and look at the Redento Raffinato, you will notice the tip rising majestically from the body of the vase. The tall, graceful tip is elegant. The Redento Raffinato wouldn't be the same without it. It signifies reaching for greater heights, reaching for something more, reaching for the future! That's what we do in Oklahoma. We are not asking for handouts, we are reaching and climbing upward for the blessings that we can achieve through hard work, character and the providence of God. Also, looking at the Redento Raffinato, not only do you notice the lofty, elegant tip at the top of the vase; at the opposite end, you will notice a dignified elegant base. The base is small, compared to the height of the vase; however, it is a solid foundation. It reminds us of how important it is to stay "centered" on the correct things. If we lose sight of the things that brought us to where we are at, if we get off center, we could easily fall. Therefore we stay focused on the good values that have brought us this far. We stand proud (in a humble sort-of-way), strong, determined, reaching for greater heights, not forgetting the qualities and foundations that has caused us to be where we are today.

That, I believe represents the true "Spirit of Oklahoma"!

OK ETHICS TRIVIAL PURSUIT

1. Where was the first Tulsa Chapter meeting held?
