Join Lori to hear about her first hand learnings as a leader at Microsoft. Hear how Microsoft is striving to be a “learn it all” culture (vs a “know it all”) and how leaders model integrity in their “model, coach, care” environment. Microsoft has been recognized in their work in ethics, legal compliance, corporate and social responsibility . In 2021, Ethisphere Institute ranked Microsoft among the World’s Most Ethical Companies for the eleventh year in a row.

Key Takeaways:

1. Discover how to see and catch “know it all” and “learn it all” behaviors
2. Discover how “vulnerable” you are willing to be in front of your team
3. Commit to listening in new and different ways to hear signals and insights

Lori Garcia, a leader in the Oklahoma community, serves as Sr Director of Global Business Architecture & Sales Strategy for Azure at Microsoft. Lori is known for her disruptive leadership style inside the company and with our partners and customers. She is not afraid to ask “why not?” and try something new. She enjoys “finding a way” and is known for saying “No is just closer to yes!”

Prior to joining Microsoft, Lori served 10 years in Oil & Gas, 4 years in retail distribution and 5 years in transportation services, serving in a variety of leadership roles in business and technology departments. She is a graduate of Baylor University and holds a bachelor’s degree in business administration with a focus in management and international business (1995). She also holds two masters degrees from the University of Oklahoma - a MBA from the University of Oklahoma (2001) and a Masters in Information Systems from the University of Oklahoma (2001).
